

Allison Smith

"Teachers make all other professions possible." Wow! What a powerful statement that is, I realize the importance and extremely valuable gift that has been bestowed upon me; your child. When I look at a child, I see endless possibilities along with the strength and tenacity to achieve their highest imaginable goals. I feel so blessed to be a part of this amazing process.

I grew up in New Jersey, Texas and California. I am a graduate of California State University, San Marcos (in San Diego). My husband and I loved living in southern California, but made the decision to move to Texas to be close to my family. We have two nephews here who we love to spend time with. And we love to visit California where we have eleven nieces and six nephews! In my free time I love to read, craft, spoil my golden retriever and spend time outdoors with my family and friends.

I started in Plano five years ago in a special education setting. I loved being able to work with various grades and teachers, however, I fell in love with third grade! Last year I adored teaching third grade and am enthusiastic about another year; it is such a wonderful place to be!

I am very excited about the beginning of the school year and looking forward to partnering with you over the course of the year!