

Beth Stober

I am so thrilled to be a part of the Bethany Bunch! I love being around kids and being able to live my dream while helping others achieve theirs.

I grew up attending Plano schools all the way from elementary school to senior high graduation. Later, I received my Bachelors degree at Texas Christian University with certifications in Elementary Education and English as Second Language. In 2007, I was named the "Beginning Teacher of the Year" for the district of Plano. My philosophy is to guide my students to be resourceful and responsible thinkers growing to become capable citizens. I absolutely love creativity and encourage each of my students to express their creativity in their work as well.

This year, I am working towards my masters in education. In my free time, I enjoy playing volleyball, cheering on the Dallas Stars, photography, and spending time with my family and friends.
